	Examiner Raquel Alvarez	Art Unit 3622

-- The MAILING DATE of this communication appears on the cover sheet with the correspondence address --

Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

DETAILED ACTION

1. This office action is in response to communication filed on 4/27/07.
2. Claims 1-67 are presented for examination.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(e) the invention was described in a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent, or on an international application by another who has fulfilled the requirements of paragraphs (1), (2), and (4) of section 371(c) of this title before the invention thereof by the applicant for patent.

The changes made to 35 U.S.C. 102(e) by the American Inventors Protection Act of 1999 (AIPA) and the Intellectual Property and High Technology Technical Amendments Act of 2002 do not apply when the reference is a U.S. patent resulting directly or indirectly from an international application filed before November 29, 2000. Therefore, the prior art date of the reference is determined under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) prior to the amendment by the AIPA (pre-AIPA 35 U.S.C. 102(e)).

3. Claims 1-56, 58, 60, 62, 64-67 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Deaton et al. (6,292, 786 hereinafter Deaton).

With respect to claims 1-2, 10-12, 14-16, 24-26, 28, 55, 64-66, Deaton teaches receiving and storing manufacture item identifiers wherein said manufacturer item identifiers are received from a manufacturer (i.e. UPC are received from manufacturers 16 and stored at UPC server 12); receiving and processing a consumer ID (col. 17, lines 22-28); receiving and processing purchase data, wherein said purchase data comprises a retail item identifier (col. 17, lines 22-28); associating said consumer ID, said purchase data, and a manufacturer item identifier (col. 4, lines 50-60); performing an analysis that is dependent upon the step of associating said consumer ID, said purchased data, and said manufacturer item identifier (col. 4, lines 50-60).

With respect to claims 3-9, 17-23, 29-36, 38, 39, 40-49, 51-54, 67, Deaton further teaches performing an analysis comprises calculating reward points and presenting the award to the consumer in real-time at a point-of sale (col. 7, lines 60-65, col. 8, lines 13-22 and col. 11, lines 11-29).

With respect to claims 13, 27, 37, 50, Deaton further teaches wherein said payment vehicle comprises credit card, check, debit card (col. 4, lines 29-31).

With respect to claims 56, 58, 60, and 62, Deaton teaches receiving and storing manufacturer item identifiers (col. 17, lines 22-28); allocating reward points to at least one of a manufacturer and a retailer (col. 15, lines 33-44); receiving and processing a consumer ID (col. 17, lines 22-28); receiving and processing purchase data, wherein said purchase data comprises a retail item identifier (col. 17, lines 22-28); issuing, by at least one of said retailer and said manufacturer, reward points to consumer (col. 15, lines 33-44); redeeming said reward points for a consumer (col. 7, lines 18-22); associating said consumer ID, said purchase data, and a manufacturer item identifier (col. 4, lines 50-60); performing an analysis that is dependent upon the step of associating said consumer ID, said purchased data, and said manufacturer item identifier (col. 4, lines 50-60).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

4. Claims 57, 59, 61 and 63 rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Deaton (6,292, 786 hereinafter Deaton).

Claims 57, 59, 61 and 63 further recite redeeming the reward through a universal rewards catalog. Deaton teaches redeeming the reward, the reward being for different manufacturers and stores (col. 7, lines 18-22 and Figure 1). Deaton does not specifically teach using a universal reward catalog. Universal catalogs are old and well known in which like products from different suppliers have a single database record. It would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time of Applicant's invention to have included using a universal reward catalog to redeem the reward of Deaton because such a modification would allow the customer to redeem his reward from one single source and therefore save the customer time.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant argues Deaton doesn't teach a system which receives and stores UPC codes from various manufacturers. The Examiner disagrees with Applicant because in Deaton UPC server 12 receives and stores in memory 64 or storage device 62, UPC codes received from manufacturers 16. When the customer purchases a product, the POS sends the UPC code to UPC server 12 which identifies the manufacturer from the plurality of manufacturers 1-N based on the UPC code received and therefore based on the identification of the manufacturers it discounts the products or communicates with the manufacturers through communication link 26. Therefore, contrary to Applicant arguments, Deaton clearly teaches a plurality of manufactures 1-N.

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

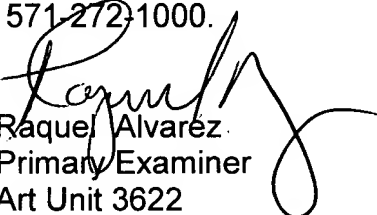

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
